REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The Declaration under 37 CFR 1.132 filed on 3/04/2008 by Dr. Dana Hilt is sufficient to overcome the rejection of claims 1-3, 5-13, 15-20, 15-21, 24-25 and 27-28 under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Atkinson et al. (Cancer Epidemiology, Biomarkers & Prevention 1999; 8: 863-866, IDS) as evidenced by Boyd et al. (J. Nat. Cancer Inst. 1995; 87: 670-675, of record) and Kolb et al. (Radiology 2002; 225: 165-175, of record) in view of Mauvais-Jarvis (US 4,919,937, 1990, IDS) as evidenced by Mauvais-Jarvis (Cancer Research 1986; 46: 1521-1525, of record) and in further view of Ueda et al. (US 5,045,553) based upon the showing that one of ordinary skill in the art would not have combined the teachings of the references, as set forth above, so as to reduce breast density in a patient having class III or class IV dense breast composition by percutaneous administration of a pharmaceutical composition comprising 4-hydroxy tamoxifen and isopropyl myristate with a reasonable expectation of success. In particular, the Declaration clearly sets forth a variety of other metabolites of tamoxifen have been discovered and studies, several of which had raised interest as pharmaceutically active metabolites that might be useful, for example, for treating breast cancer (see Declaration, page 5, last paragraph to page 6). However, the different tamoxifen metabolites have different activities and the anti-estrogen activity does not always correlate with pharmacological efficacy. For example, the Declaration summarizes a paper by Gradishar & Jordan, J. Clin. Oncol. 15: 840-852 (1997), which emphasizes that "receptor binding and biologic activity are now viewed as two separate function" (page 841); and further, looks at the clinical potential of new antiestrogen, including the tamoxifen metabolite, 3, hydroxytamoxifen, also known as droloxifene, and other tamoxigen derivatives, wherein estrogen receptor binding activity is not necessarily predictive of biological activity. As such, Gradishar & Jordan represent the level of knowledge of those of skill in the art. .

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
